I agree with Rebecca. In both cases of appointments they are charged with duties for the state. The Tourism board is clearly an office. He gets mileage, is appointed, determines investigations, and is the oversight committee for tourism related expenditures. While the scenic highway board is smaller and does not have mileage, he is appointed and makes decisions about which roads will be scenic highways. This means he has the power of the state.

He says he has had this reviewed in the past and it was determined not to be dual-office holding. I told him until we have any additional information, our position is that he needs to resign from one of the positions.

Unfortunately, I see both as offices for dual-office holding purposes, because both are more than advisory and exercise some power on behalf of the state.

Can Douglas McFarland serve in an Outdoor Advertising seat on the Scenic Highways Committee when he also serves on the Tourism Expenditure Review Committee in an At-large seat appointed by the Speaker of the House?
