Subject: FW: Important Announcement from your Chamber President

Can we discuss the below? I didn't know anything was sent out to the County. Was something sent to Clarendon and McCormick? This really confuses the initiative and is misleading as they are not a SCWRC.

Good morning fellow Chamber Members,

I am excited to inform you that Laurens County is now certified as a Work Ready Community. Much like being named the 2011 SCDOT State Group of the Year for our Beautify Laurens County efforts, this is another prime example of the progress your committee work is making to create tangible positive results for our community.

The Workforce Development Committee is a joint effort of the LCCC and the Laurens County Development Corporation and is under the leadership of Dr. Cynthia Pitts. We are extremely excited about Laurens County being certified as a Work Ready Community, only one of 3 counties in South Carolina. This is a result of the countywide collaboration of our members, Workforce Development Committee and its partners. The committee has focused on 5 areas of importance in order to identify, educate and train our citizens for the job demands of our existing industries and new companies such as ZF Transmissions and others. The committee is comprised of key industry leaders, school district leadership, Piedmont Technical College, Adult Education, SC Works and Upper Savannah Workforce Division along with other stakeholders. We applaud their teamwork in achieving this certification. Being a Work Ready Community will be a calling card to future employers, emphasizing Laurens County is committed to generating a trained workforce and providing our citizens the tools they need to acquire quality jobs.
