These dazzling ebony jewelwing damselflies, often confused with butterflies or dragonflies, are named for the white spot, or "jewel" on the tip of the female's wing. A common sight near wooded streams in the summer months, they have an almost magical presence with their graceful movement and vivid, metallic bodies! Now, you know.....

Abigail Broughton Thompson This landed on me at Jones Gap. It had metallic wings (colors shimmered faintly on the clear parts). Don't know what it is, but it was beautiful!
