

COUNCIL FOR NATIONAL POLICY

April 13, 2016

The Honorable Nikki R. Haley
Governor
State of South Carolina
1205 Pendleton Street
Columbia, SC 29201

Dear Nikki,

Thank you for your faithful dedication to advancing the cause of Freedom!

The Council for National Policy (CNP) will meet July 13-15, 2016 at the InterContinental Cleveland just days before the Republican National Convention. On behalf of the CNP Executive Committee, it's our privilege to extend this invitation to you to participate as a speaker at this event.

As you know, we are entering perhaps the most momentous 180 days our nation has faced since the nomination of Abraham Lincoln in the summer of 1860. It's evident that many critical issues are coming to a head and the next President will face profound challenges.

In CNP's long-standing tradition, we will address and discuss Conservative market-oriented solutions to such questions as Obamacare, American Culture, Judicial Supremacy, National Security, Education and more. The leadership of CNP believes that your special insights into the challenges of governing a state while battling the overreach of the federal government would empower our members to be of much greater effectiveness and influence. Hopefully, this being the focus of your remarks is agreeable with you.

We would like to host you, and several other Governors, for an interview-style session on Friday evening, July 15. You can reach Amy Greene, CNP's Director of Programs, at (202) 207-0165 or Amy@cfnp.org should you have any questions or wish to discuss this invitation further. If you would like to visit with either of us, Amy will gladly arrange it.

CNP is the premier conservative membership organization comprised of more than 400 of America's most influential leaders. These educational events are held three times each year to build coalitions, strengthen the conservative movement, and thus seek to restore our nation to its founding principles.

Council meetings are always closed to media and the public in order to encourage a free exchange of ideas.

We eagerly look forward to you joining us.

With warmest regards,
