I got it working but I forgot to bring my user name, which I thought was just rcard. Is there a standard format for user names and do either of you know it?

Thanks.

I remember; when you install the cisco client vpn software you have to import OEPP's configuration file to establish the connection. I think I could come up with a step-by-step if I sat in front of my laptop to do it.

Josh,

Do you remember how this worked, or should we just CC Chris in?

Thanks, Christian. What vpn software do you use on your home computer?
