Kat, preparing for a finance meeting and waiting on rick to get into our safe to get kids SS#. I can tell you right now that the website portion of things will be EASY for people.... It's the gathering of all information in one place that takes time! We are super organized about this, but it still involves shuffling through a lot of paperwork if you have kids! Can I review this by the end of the day? If you need to give the code to someone else, totally understand... trying my best though!
