Description/Significant Features:

Resource 1323.02 is the hand-dug mined sections of Wragg's Barony and Haggett Hall Plantations. The authors observed ditches, pits, embankments, abandoned remnants of this mining activity. Modern land management on the land has knocked down embankments, filled ditches, enlarged canals for drainage, and eradicated many of the branch, trunk, and lateral lines in the mining fields. This left the remains of the fields present with their ditching and tailing banks but without context.

Alterations (include date(s), if known):

Unknown

Architect(s)/Builder(s):

Owner William Gregg specific builder unknown.

Historical Information

Historical Information:

Gregg's mining operations covered Wragg's Barony lands and a portion of the Haggett Hall lands to the north. Extensive phosphate mining took place in many locations on these lands.
