We should charge $3.00. We are issuing a duplicate license in either case.

It was brought to my attention recently from clerks that were floating during the roll-out time that different offices are charging different amounts for replacing a broken DL. They reported to me that if a person walks in to replace a driver's license that is broken that is in hand, they are being charged $12.50. But, if the person reports that the license has been lost, the fee is $3.00. This does seem extremely stupid, but I am sure it is true. But, more importantly, I need to make sure that all offices are charging the same amount for the same transaction. So, which should it be?
