Wall Street Journal high risk areas.pdf

Hello Katherine

Attached is a power point I used this morning at the town of Hilton Head Island's Intergovernmental Committee. In this presentation I did talk about Governor Hailey's recent announcement"

Governor Haley has established the Governor's Regulatory Review Task Force to review and reduce government overreach on businesses and create a more simplified and market-friendly regulatory system.

The order requires all cabinet agencies, including the Department of Insurance, to review statutes, rules, regulations and processes to assess their impact on South Carolina's economy and determine if any create unnecessary, unintended impediments to businesses. I feel that this is a great exercise for government agencies to ask business how our state regulations affect their lives. Thanks

Please have someone follow up with the writer with the WSJ to try and correct the tone of her article that says "Hilton Head Island is high risk" and home owners are paying $50,000 for wind and hail coverage.
