scstateparks Fresh perspective for a four day week. This statue has connections to TWO #SCStateParks. First to name both correctly gets a state park prize pack! 📷: @centerlightstudios rohu61 I knew AJ state park but not Huntington. What is the connection at Huntington? at 13:21:50 on 1/17/2017 UTC scstateparks @rohu61 the statue was sculpted by Anna Hyatt Huntington, of Huntington Beach State Park! Atalaya was her and her husband Archer's summer home.

lilreddavies @scstateparks Intersting timing for this post, so close to MLK Day and the recent attacks on civil rights hero John Louis. Just wondering if there are any memorials at all to civil rights activists/African Americans in SC State Parks? I know the parks were closed once to avoid desegregation. Just wondering if there is a silver lining to the troubled history of the South.

sewell43 @lilreddavies @scstateparks There is an African American History Monument on the statehouse grounds in Columbia. The first if it's kind on any of the nation's statehouse grounds. It was designed to recapture the rich history of African Americans and their contributions to the state of South Carolina. As far as the attacks on John Lewis...he instigated those with his statement about boycotting Trump's inauguration...he boycotted Bush 43' inauguration as well. Every area of the country had a so called "troubled" history at some time. The silver lining would be to celebrate the great strides this country has made over time and stop living in the past. I'm proud to have been born in SC and still call it home!
