Do to your incompetence in rejecting the DSIT plan to protect the citizens of South Carolina we have been a victim of the Hacking that took place at the South Carolina Department of Revenue.
Since you did not deem it necessary to implement such of Protection Plan we had $2,200 taken out of our account.
Maybe you should do the right thing and send me a check for that amount!!!!
I am sure you have a much better protection plan in place for you than what you have offered the citizens of South Carolina.
You should be fired!

I've previously written to you on this topic.

Please see below a copy of my email, sent today, to Sen. Graham.

As a SC resident may I ask you to counsel Gov. Haley?

She needs an adult in the room to help her understand that the hacking of Social Security Numbers etc. is really a big deal.

The Gov. seems unable to get ahead of the problem and drive to a solution. Instead, every day, drip by drip, another shoe drops.

Now we know they've identified which numbers were hacked but won't tell those who are affected. Plus Experien was awarded a no-bid contract to supply a minimal amount of coverage.

Please Senator, she needs to stop looking so ineffectual.

And if she doesn't listen to you then her reelection won't - and shouldn't - stand a chance.

Help her. And help the Republican party in SC.

Thank you for your attention.

one of the first rules is to get in front of the situation.
instead, drip by drip, day by day, more unflattering information comes out.
this makes you look reactive, falling to lead and, generally speaking, not up to the task.
you really need to get your arms around this and do something more than put an experian, short term, band aid on what

Please assure me how South Carolina protects me from Experian or any of this type of commercial service from creating a bigger problem for me. I was in the process of signing up for your proposed protection on line when I read the details of the their contract which states they can give my information to their third party associate partners. When I read further about their 3rd party associates, it explains there are over 90 of them, which I assume also have 3rd party associates. By signing onto this program , It looks to me like I am becoming complicit in blabbing my own credit card and social security information all over the internet. How has the state protected me against this very real possibility ? Certainly the state has or will have a more secure system than a commercial company doesn't it? Advise

Governor Nikki Haley
Office of the Governor

Dear Governor Haley:

I have been following the recent news regarding the hacking and disclosures of personal information from the SC/DOR web site. This subject is extremely important to me, as I am sure it is to you, and our fellow South Carolinians.

I spent most of my working life dealing with classified information. I would never, never, never permit classified information under my control to be accessed by any unauthorized person. In that regard, classified information is sort of akin to my personal information. For most of my life I have been very careful to protect my personal information. In earlier years, I hand tore papers received in my mail which contained my address. In some cases, these shreds were also burned in my fireplace. I never, ever threw anything in the trash which could contain my SSN, or any personal financial information. In recent years, most of my documents and unwanted mail goes into a cross-cut shredder which reduces it to a state which is virtually unreconstructable.

With the advent of personal computers I saw the need to further protect my information which is contained within them. I employ the use of firewalls, anti-virus, anti-malware, and other hardware/software designed to prevent anyone from gaining access to my data. In some cases, my data is both encrypted, and a copy stored on back up media.

I also request and review my annual free credit report from all three reporting agencies so that I can confirm that my personal credit information remains secure.

I do not believe that the methods I employ are either excessive, or unusual. Anyone who fails to do all that they can to protect their personal information invites a future disaster.

That brings me to the recent hacking of SC/DOR systems and the loss of all that personal information which the State of South Carolina is charged to protect. If this had happened to a business which I used, I would have immediately canceled any accounts I had in place and I would never again conduct business with them. However, I can't very well stop doing business with SC/DOR. I am compelled by law to do so. Therefore, as Governor, I am asking you to shoulder the responsibility for this disaster. I have read press quotes of you describing how "incredibly sophisticated" this attack was, and how "no one from the Revenue Department is to blame for the hacking incident." Excuse me

Governor Haley
November 4, 2012

Governor, you can "paint" this with any color spin brush you choose, but that won't change the "smell." Your Department of Revenue chose to treat our information with a complete lack of respect and protection; and yes, they are to blame for this disaster!

There are two actions which you need to take to correct the source of the problem, and to provide the level of protection your fellow citizens deserve:

First, Mr. Etter should be immediately removed as the Director of SC/DOR, along with all persons within that department who are responsible for the protection of citizen's computerized data. They are guilty of dereliction of duty at the least, and professional incompetence at the worst. If they had only chosen to simply encrypt all of the data, much of this problem could have been avoided. They didn't even take that simple step. They have to go!

Second, I note that businesses affected by this failure are going to be protected for their lifetimes by Dun and Bradstreet. You now need to make sure that individual citizens are protected for their lifetimes as well. We, as individuals, deserve the protection that South Carolina should have given us in the first place. Don't now compound the problem by pretending that if the hackers don't act on their ill-gotten data for a free year of protection, we all don't have anything to worry about. In fact, it will probably be at least a year before the hackers sort out the treasure of information handed to them by SC/DOR, and then sell it on the black market to the really bad guys. Our information is essentially available to anyone willing to pay the going price. At the very least, the State of South Carolina owes us all continuous credit monitoring and identity theft protection for as long as the information is gone, and that would be for a lifetime. I hope that you will agree with me that this is the right thing to do. Then, I hope you do the right thing! I look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

David

Dear Mr. Etter:

As a result of the Cyber Attack at SC Department of Revenue on October 26, 2012, I am seeking reimbursement for the cost of the steps I have taken to protect my financial security. Enclosed is my credit card statement that includes the charges of the three credit bureaus to freeze my credit. Eighteen dollars might not seem like a lot for a high paid government official, but to a working class family it equals the cost of 4.5 gallons of milk, 6 loaves of bread, 9 dozen egg or 5.07 gallons of gas.

Please contact me if you would like to discuss this matter further.

Dear Governor Haley,

As a resident of South Carolina I am appalled that you have not yet held your Director of the Department of Revenue accountable nor has anyone taken responsibility for the horrendous situations that occurred with the voting poll situation and the lack of adequate voting machines, machine maintenance and long waiting lines. Without a doubt, both individuals at the top of those departments need to be relieved, not reprimanded, not disciplined, not deserving of a severe talking to! WE need YOU to be the responsible and accountable governor who can and does make sure these irresponsible employees find out that there are plenty of other individuals who can and will be the kind of department head that we residents need and deserve. Please make sure you are the kind of governor we deserve.

I finally e-mailed Experian for help and all they would tell me to do was log on again and when it failed to ask for help with password. Well that got me a "We are unable to verify your credentials. Please try again.

Yesterday (Sunday morning) I received a call from a man identifying himself from the US Census Bureau. He wanted to "match" my phone number with my address. The address he wanted to "confirm" was not my current address but my address in 1998-99. I can say with certainty, this man was not calling from the Census Bureau (the census was conducted two years ago and we all know government employees don't make calls on Sunday mornings). No, this man was piecing together my information taken from my SC tax returns. Either he bought that information or he was selling that information.

It has been 12 weeks since the story broke. My minor son's SSN was on that tax return. The State of South Carolina has sent several notifications about Experian's Family Secure Plan as being the avenue of protection for minors whose parents enrolled in the TrackMyId program. GUESS WHAT? Family Secure is not yet available. My son's information has probably already been hacked.

With all due respect, WHAT IS YOUR PLAN?

My previous correspondence was a letter that I intend to distribute to every newspaper in the state. This is a serious issue and one on which I believe the SCDOR and the Governor's Office has acted casually dismissive.

I would very much like to know your response.

Though gargantuan attempts have been put forth by the State of South Carolina to squelch, or-- preferably smother--the miserable facts of the recent cyber-attack, the bottom-line is that taxpayers and their minor dependent's social security numbers have been STOLEN. "Security breach", a rather innocuous-sounding term is the preferred reference, as the word "stolen" tends to imply that someone wasn't playing nice. It isn't politically correct and it carries a negative aura toward the perpetrator of wrongdoing. "Security breach" certainly sounds less menacing and less destructive. It is on the same level as "minimally invasive" or "fair share." However, and most unfortunate for the victims, the risks, the dangers, and the implications are all-consuming, financially devastating and personally ruinous. The good name and individual identity of each and every taxpayer--and their minor dependents whose social security numbers were listed on state tax returns since 1998--are in peril. With a click of a mouse, your identity and the identities of the children of this state were captured, repackaged, bundled, and sold in part and parcel to the skags of the underworld. Thankfully, not all SC residents will be affected. Illegal aliens (oops, undocumented persons) and those who just don't feel like filing a tax return are "good." Their "kids" (BTW, kids are baby goats) ain't affected, neither. The baby-mamas and drug dealers are also exempt. However, if you are an upstanding, taxpaying citizen, be on guard. You, my friend, have been snared. As an added bonus, if you are a small business owner or part of an LLC, buddy, you're "done for." To their credit, the State did inform its citizens of the "security breach." Not immediately, of course, but whatever. After the "initial assessment" was processed, appropriate talking points had to be discussed, devised, debated, and distributed. After a few weeks the downtrodden masses were fed a semi-factual narrative of what actually occurred. We were advised to enroll in Experian's ProtectMyID tracking program. The cost of service for the first year would be on the State's tab. Free stuff! Where do I sign up? Call the number given, punch in a code, type your information and, just like that, you're "good." Whoa, there, Nellie. What about the kids? Oh, yeah. Them kids ain't covered. Lest not yet. Lucrative finder's fees are negotiated for a clean social security number of an adult with an unblemished background, but nothing fetches more than a child's virgin credit and/or felony-free social security number. These identities carry a premium in the after-market, i.e., crack houses, meth labs, prisons...the state tax office. And there is currently no means by which those numbers can be tagged for security freezes or fraud alerts. Wow, man, you mean we've been duped?

The South Carolina Department of Revenue, one of the many respected government agencies, issued statements on two separate occasions, each confirming that Experian's Family Secure program did, indeed, provide coverage for the squeakers. When mom, dad, or a legal guardian signed up, Junior and his adorable thumb-sucking sister were also covered. Well, kinda-sorta-not-really. There is one little bump in the road. Family Secure isn't exactly ready for prime time. Eleven weeks after the cyber-attack occurred, South Carolinians are still "out there." As it turns out, while we were waiting for our elected officials to get their act together, the identities of Junior and Thumb-sucker were "reassigned" to a third-world thug. No worries, though. Go with the flow, dude. It's not a problem until it's a problem.

Is the SC State Government able to prevent those who hacked state financial data from using it to file state tax returns impersonating SC citizens? Filing fraudulent tax returns has become a big problem during the last few years and it may become a huge problem for SC citizens now that our financially sensitive data is in the wrong hands. If they file a tax return using a SC citizen's name, social security number, address, etc, and claim a refund, and it is paid, the real SC citizen will have a problem. The State Government will not process the real tax return since one has already been processed for that citizen. What is being done to address this problem?

Dear S.C. Revenue,

In regards to the breach of security of income tax, I have problems or concerns with the remedy given by the state of S.C.

I have never believed "online" etc. informaton can be secure and never use this method even if its universal. The second choice is to give vital personal information over the phone.

After numerous days of calling the tax hack phone number, the personnel was almost impossible to understand. I asked this person the location of where I'm conversing with. He stated "he was not permitted to", then he was asked if this is a overseas call? The answer yes.

Does the state realize this so called Protection company uses foreign personnel to obtain our personal information, whether verbally or on line? Who would feel secure supplying said data in this atmoshere when the state said the information was hacked internationally? With the poor economy and shortage of employment, does the governor realized the state of S.C. is doing its best for employment overseas? Sounded like "Baboo Bott", either India or Pakistan.

Sincerely,

The exact same thing happened at the DIVISION OF STATE INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY (DSIT). Social security numbers were breached. When the B&CB's lawyer came in to talk to us, it was asked why we had to pay for credit monitoring software, and why the State would not be responsible if any one credit's was ruined or hacked into, we were told it was not the State's responsibility. It was put back on those of us whose social security numbers were hacked. We had to pay for the credit monitoring and if anything came up on our credit we were told the State was not held accountable, nor would they make it right. Now, for those of you who do not know about this Division of the State, it is "THE" State's Computer agency. The agency that monitors information and backs up information for other agencies, ie SLED, DMV, USC, local government, police departments, Dept of Corrections, DSS, DHEC, etc., etc. Now, if "THE" State's computer agency isn't securer than the average agency, then why should we be surprised that information at other agencies has gotten out???? Yes, I was the one to ask these questions to this lawyer, and was cut short, and singled out. He did not want to answer these questions. How could "THE" State's IT agency let this happen of all agencies, and why were we responsible for any fallout?

I was appalled on reading a local newspapers account this morning of the sc tax record hacking. If you keep cutting budgets,giving tax credits and any other way you are eroding state revenue, breaches in security of proprietary info will continue. Issuing an executive order for IT people for each cabinet level dept is like closing the barn door after the horse has run away. Do you really believe that the residents of this state are so stupid that you can play politics as oppose to stepping up and accepting responsibility for the breach? From the compromised records in April through to this latest hacking, you have not taken the lead. Better to have been campaigning for Romney/Ryan than tending to problem at home. AND then to tell residents 10 days after the last hacking is unacceptable.

Dear Governor Haley,

I am a SC resident and a 25-year veteran of the IT industry. I am outraged that while you want to "bounce the hackers off the wall"; that you plan no consequences for real persons responsible. While you state that the hackers were "very sophisticated" --- the real problem was that the defense was professionally (and criminally?) negligent. You, and the taxpayers of South Carolina, have been ill-served by an incompetent IT staff.

While it is almost impossible to prevent an "intrusion" --- it is professional negligence not to encrypt sensitive data. That is, you may not be able to keep them out --- but you sure as heck can make it difficult to impossible for them to gain anything of value.

The crime was not that hackers gained access to the DOR system --- but that the names, Social Security Numbers, and other identifying information was not encrypted.

Your IT staff has violated the most basic rule of data security --- and now the taxpayers of South Carolina will pay the price. Someone MUST be held accountable.

Sincerely,

I am assisting my [REDACTED] year old mother with her registration to protect her ID. She encountered many problems attempting to do this herself so I am stepping in. We were able to reach an operator at 8:00 this morning, however the supervisors had not yet arrived for work because their office is in the Central Time Zone. Our attempts to call since then have been fruitless because of high call volume.

First I would like to point out that since this high call volume is being generated by calls on the East Coast, supervisors should be available when WE would be calling, not when they would normally report to work.

Second, your office should be providing greater assistance for the elderly and others who are vulnerable and afraid, and who do not have access to a computer. Isn't there some way that your office can expedite service for these constituents?

Finally, this should NEVER have happened in the first place. I work in [REDACTED] and can assure you that having unencrypted data on your system is NOT an industry norm. If we permitted such vulnerability we would be fined to smithereens and would lose any credibility with our clients if we weren't sued out of existence first. Protecting private data is the right thing to do regardless of how much it costs. For the last 10 years this state has been governed by ideologues who act as though using taxpayer funds to maintain and improve infrastructure is a criminal act. The trend over the last decade to underfund state agencies has resulted in this epic failure. Your office can spin it all you want but the fact remains that the culture in the Governor's office has been totally focused on political ideologies at the expense of the citizens of this state. Now the very tax payers whose money you all insist you're trying to save will be stuck with the monstrous cost of monitoring credit data, and will also leave us stuck with this cost for the rest of our lives after this one-year protection ends.

To say that I am "hacked" is a gross understatement. I'm ready to see some accountability from the Governor's office.

Within one week of the general election next week you will need to convene a special session of the general assembly in order to pass and put into law new legislation requiring all state government agencies to encrypt any and all citizen data/information immediately.

This legislation should also authorize the governor to appoint a chief information officer with specific responsibilities of ensuring that all state agencies comply with this legislation. I am aware that you already have someone appointed to oversee state computer purchases but data security is another specialty all in itself.

The cost of this new legislation requiring data encryption will be very small compared to the $84-90 million that the DOR data breach will ultimately cost SC taxpayers.

Lastly, I very strongly recommend that all 250 employees of the DOR who were granted special data base access codes be required to take lie detector tests to determine if any of them provided their specific access code to anyone who was not authorized.

Very Sincerely,

Albert [REDACTED]

Esperian Troubles

For many years Mrs [REDACTED] and I have filed SC State and Federal Income tax forms with payment. The recent Hacker problem caused us to follow published advice to register with Esperian which we did around 10/30/2012. In the course of exploring their web site I asked for a credit report thinking there would be no charges associated in that the State of SC would be paying for our memberships for one year and there was no warning on the web site that requests of this sort would result in extra charges.

Well, today noted two charges from Esperian on my American Express account. One was $31.95 the other for $1.00. I was surprised. I called Esperian and was told the charges were the result of my ordering a triple source credit report. There had been no warning of this possibility. I protested. There may be a partial credit given with AMEX.

Later I received an email telling me my membership had been cancelled and there would be no additional charge. Yet there seemed to be a possibility of continued monitoring of my account but I am not clear on that point.

I bring this episode to your attention because so many fellow South Carolinians could be impacted as they seek a relationship with Esperian. Potentially there is a lot at stake!

Firstly, I would like to express my appreciation of your leadership in SC. Thank you for your conservative leadership.

I heard about the possible id theft and heard that the line was really busy and you would work to solve this. I assume that's why they have a recording which is a great idea. However, I logged on to the website which had an invitation to enter a code for free membership. When I entered the activation code, the response said for me to enter a valid code.

I just wanted your office to be aware of this. I stayed on the line the 2nd time the information was given on the recording, and it is given with a word for every letter so you don't mistake a D for a V and so on. So I am certain I got the code right. That's why I am informing your office so you can hopefully work to correct this.

Thank you for your help. Again, I am a fan...Thank you for your leadership.

Dear Governor Haley:

My husband and I have filed SC state tax returns since 1973. Thank you for making the effort to protect us from ID theft.

In the past twenty-four hours, my husband and I have had four suspicious calls. As our phone numbers have been registered at DoNotCall.gov since its inception, I am always suspicious when we get sales calls. I have, of course, reported these four calls to DoNotCall.gov.

Something bothers me, however, and I wanted to address this with your office in the hopes that you can prevent others from becoming victims of these scams. Two calls were from WAKA, a scam where they direct you to go to a website. I got one of those last night around 9:45. As we both know, it's illegal for telemarketers to call after nine unless invited to do so, or unless there has been a previous relationship. I had already reported WAKA three times to the DNC site, and have repeatedly told them not to call me back.

Almost twelve hours later, I received a call from [REDACTED] at WN Positions, a "recruiting firm"; [REDACTED] said she was in Orlando Florida. She began to ask me questions of a personal nature and I refused to answer them. [REDACTED] sounded exactly like [REDACTED], the woman from WAKA last night. They both had the same accent (American Caucasian), the same cadence, and the same tonal qualities. And both tried to talk over me like a freight train running over tracks. (I know how to yell; she didn't get very far.)

Just in case law enforcement can tie these together, here are the phone numbers we received and I believe are scam artists:

459-121-8344, 971-373-2920, 704-237-3302, 415-121-6432. I hope this will help with your investigation.

1) We should be given lifetime Expedian coverage for ID protection. One year is not enough- our SSN is used throughout for many different records.

2) Who in the SC govt is responsible for the inadequate system security? They must be terminated, to emphasize to the next holder of the job that this performance is not acceptable. And also YOU need to assure that the required repairs of the SC Government record system are put in place. Or else go back to paper records!

I have attempted to enroll in the protection program as informed on the 6:00 WYFF news program, only to find an activation code is required. State officials requiring citizens to enroll themselves is senseless, especially when the DOR admittedly knows the extent of the compromise. It seems reasonable to assume residents voting in upcoming elections will critique all state level elected officials by the inconveniences and additional exposure risk caused by delays and 'callback later' messages associated with the slow enrollment process. The state fixed the slow DMV process. This is a little more urgent! The state botched the information security and now hopes to 'go cheap' by imposing on its citizens to waste their time attempting to obtain the activation code! Lets see, 3.6 million numbers stolen. Time is of the essence. All individuals known to have been compromised should automatically be enrolled. Let the citizens vote! This message will be sent to WYFF.

Dear Governor,

You have got to be kidding me. Just short of Nuclear war I cannot imagine a worse scenario for the citizens of this state. I want some people fired for this horrendous fiasco. You will need to provide free credit monitoring for us for longer than a year (actually we need continuous protection) and it will need to be with all three bureaus. I cant even get through to the credit bureaus. Our protection should be automatic and you should have already dealt with this. This is a disaster that must be paid for and dealt with completely and totally. Your news conference DID NOT deal with this matter properly. You need to step up now and help the people to deal with this. Who will be fired first? I am very distressed and mad. DO YOUR JOB.

Robert [REDACTED]
A very angry SC citizen.

I know you're aware of the lost SSAN and credit card numbers. Although this is a serious breakdown, I can accept it as a fait accompli. However, when 2.6 million people are effected it is totally unacceptable to have a single web site, which leads to an immediate dead end, and a single phone number to answer inquiries. I've been trying for three hours and can't get through to the number and as I said the website is a deadend. Please do something quickly to remedy this farce of a response. Thank you for the help.

By the way thank you Governor for the great job you're doing. It is very much appreciated.

After multiple attempts to cover my minor children, who were listed on my tax return, I have been unable to do so. I first tried to use the ProtectMyID.com to protect them with the state's coverage for a year, but since they are minors, the website will not accept their information. Next, I contacted the support for ProtectMyID.com and they stated I needed to call to set up minor children. When I called, they informed me that nothing is established by the state of SC to protect minor children. Multiple media sources have stated that the state has advised to have your minor children monitored as well if they appeared on your tax return.

I have also made multiple attempts by phone and email, as the example attached, to contact the Department of Revenue on Saturday, October 27th but only received a recording and no response to the email. According to The State newspaper, the Department of Revenue was going to be open to receive phone calls and answer questions on Saturday. The information being released by our State government appears to be inaccurate and a big concern.

Could you please respond to my concern and guide me to the process the State of SC has for me to protect my children? This breach is a grave concern for me as a taxpayer and citizen of the State of SC.

As a taxpayer, I feel like my information, along with my children's, should be safe and I realize that we live in a new and dangerous world, however, since the SC Government has known about this breach since August 27th, it appears to me that the plan and protection for Every SC citizen should have been thought through and processed before the Government decided to let the citizens know. It's already bad enough that our personal information is out there for criminals to use but then our Government has failed us by not having a better system in place to help us with this ID theft (waiting on the phone 45 minutes to find out your child isn't covered is not a good plan to me).

Thanks,

After trying several times to enter this code onto the website with no response, I finally called the 1.877.371.7902 number, ONLY to receive yet ANOTHER AUTOMATED recording saying the the Credit Center is CLOSED. It is 8:30 pm EST and it is closed? After almost 80% of LEGITIMATE SC RESIDENTS' IDENTITIES HAVE BEEN COMPROMISED?

THIS, Governor Haley, IS NOT ACCEPTABLE. Your department needs to address this issue immediately. This should be your number one priority on your WIN (What's Important Now) list.

This message is regarding the SC Dept of Revenue database being hacked. It would have been nice, if South Carolina tax payers were given the code they are to enter on the Experian website to request the one year complimentary "ProtectMyID" protection, instead of making us all call this number: 866.578.5422 to get the code, and never getting an answer. It is very obvious this number is unable to handle the call volume it is receiving. Please give SC tax payers more phone numbers to call into, or give us the code to enter on the Experian website to get the 1 year complimentary "ProtectMyID" protection.

I have tried, with no success, since Friday, 10/26/12 to access the phone number given by SCDOR to determine if our info was compromised in the 3.6 million SS#'s hacked from the SCDOR records. This morning I contacted SCDOR by phone and spoke with Rene Johnson. It stands to reason that, given the fact that SCDOR had this information initially, they should know if ours was among those impacted. She informed me that they had no idea whose records were taken IF ANY WERE. Stated that they didn't know if ANY records were actually taken that it was just a POTENTIALITY. In addition to feeling completely victimized by an agency of the state we should be able to trust, I now am strongly impacted by the fact that SCDOR employees have evidently been given a script to use in response to citizens. She again urged me to call the number for Experior or use the link (which, even w/ the activation code provided by SCDOR, I couldn't get to work properly). Again, this morning the message rec'd at the number is that their call volume is too great and I should call back at a later date.

This is the straw that breaks the camel's back for us as far as your administration is concerned. I have never felt that you had the best interest of those of us who have worked hard all our lives in this state. Now, the fact that our most vital information has not been protected with encryption, etc., has sealed the deal. You should put your efforts into taking care that citizens of South Carolina receive protection and benefits due them instead of working with your cronies to follow your own personal agenda. To say that I am disappointed in YOU and YOUR ADMINISTRATION is putting it mildly.

I realize that security breeches are a fact of life. Wish it had not happened.

I am writing, though about the aftermath and the "plan" and wanted you to have some feedback.

I have spent a frustrating day with the directions provided for reacting to the problem and protecting myself.

I finally was able to get on the website that your phone center directed me to. I got to log in with the D provided from the phone call. I was asked to confirm and complete the process by calling a number. That number is just swamped with a zillion residents overwhelming the system. Recording sez that I'll just have to wait until I get an email in 10 days to finish the process. Hmmmmm....

I did get an email fairly quickly saying that the process could not go forward until I called a new phone number.

"Action Needed! Additional information is needed so that we can provide you with full access to your membership.

Well , good luck on getting thru on that line.

So, I don't know where I stand or how to take a next step or do anything to protect myself from this breach.

Hello Governor Haley,

My husband and I have been residents of SC since [REDACTED]. As such, we have been filing taxes each year.

I saw your telecast advising tax payers to contact Experin regarding a breach of 77% of the voters Social Security numbers. I first went to the website for Experin then decided I needed to call them to get information regarding an Activation Code.

After calling the 1-866-578-5422 I learned that I was to go to a specific website...

www.protectmyid.com/scvor then I was supposed to enter the activation code of scvor123. First I could not get on the website using the address provided by Experin. Second I went back into the website using the regular address of www.protectmyid.com but the code didn't work on that site either. Third...I went back and called Experin again, expecting to get more information...and there was no more information.

I do want to find out if our Social Security numbers were in the huge group that was hacked...and then I want to take advantage of the protection plan the SC Government is providing. However...I am just running into dead-ends.

Please help! Lee [REDACTED]

I am having trouble getting to the website to registerd my name and information on my credit report. At one point I was able to get on the web page but the code scdor123 was not working so I tried it later and it would not let me get on there either. I have also called and could not get through. I have been having trouble with information and software being taken off or not working on my computer. I also want to let you know that my telephone seem to have interference or interception at times. The telephone will just cut off and when speeking up that the telephone is not working it will come back on. These issues that I have mention has been happening for some time now and continue to happen in this house. I have call the telephone company and reported the issue and nothing was really done about it. When I call for problems they do ask for social security numbers which I have giving for problem solving. It was told that Farmers have there own communication protection which is seperate from other telephone communication because it is a coopertative (own by it's members). Could you let me know if this is the truth that they can do this or have their own communication protection. I also thinks that my telephone is being tampered with or lines being used by someone else which the telephone is crossing with someone else.

I understand your office wanting to help S.C. consumers with there (Credit) personal information, but monitoring by Experian is not the answer. It will help but monitoring your credit file will only let you know after your information has been breached not before. What will happen in a year or in this case 5,10 or 20 years from now since the person or persons will still have this personal information? Most consumers do not understand a credit file and some do not have knowledge to use a computer. You said that it could cost 3.5 million of our tax dollars. I think that if you would let S.C. Licensed Credit Counseling Organizations help you could save the State and S.C. Consumers a lot of money and educate the consumer on credit at the same time. I have been helping with credit a long time and when you try to talk to some one at the Credit Bureau all you get is a computer. South Carolina Consumers deserve better than that and I know that as the great Governor of S.C. you want more for us. Thank you Michael [REDACTED] 803-[REDACTED]

I am concerned about the cost to the state concerning the hacking. I signed up for the one year protection but am I safe after one year or am I now forced to continue some form of id protection. Canceling debt and credit cards are easy, but my concern is my social security number. Should I cancel my SS#. And what steps are you taking for the future? How was the "protect my id" selected? I think it is owned by one of the credit bureaus. Will these revenues remain state side or go to Ireland?

I have submitted the following letter to The State newspaper, and I would like a reply directly to this. Thank you.

While basic information is being made available to SC residents and taxpayers, there remain questions as to whether additional steps need to be taken to secure the privacy and assets of South Carolinians. From press releases, it is unclear as to whether information on tax return attachments has also been compromised, such as W2 forms and 1099-R forms. Some of these documents contain financial institution account numbers which may will make the account holders far more vulnerable to additional hacker attacks. If the SC Department of Revenue or the Governor's Office knows the full extent of the breach in this regard, it should be immediately disclosed to the public so that we may fully protect ourselves.

Madam Governor,

I am writing to ask for specifics concerning the recent hacking of the SCDOR. I would like specific answers to my questions. Please do not reply with a "canned" email.

Since the SCDOR security protocols were inadequate at best. Why isn't the DOR submitting the names to Experian? Their system failed they should fix it.

Why wasn't the security protocols higher than the industry standard, since industry standards have been woefully inadequate in the past? The White House was hacked not long ago.

Have the protocols been improved yet?

Why wasn't all our information encrypted?

If someones identity is stolen will the state of South Carolina pay to fix it? will they assist people in getting it fixed, i.e., have someone to help fill out the mountains of paperwork.

If someones bank accounts are drained will the state replenish it?

I am not happy with this situation nor am I happy with the way it seems it's being handled. It was discovered on the 10th of Oct and the taxpayers weren't notified until the 26th. Sixteen days makes it appear to be a cover up in the works.

The public should have been notified on the 11th stating that it happened and what you were doing to fix it.

Also, the state IT director needs to go he/she has proven they're not up to the job. The SCDOR director should go to for not insisting on better security standards. After all it's my life they've allowed to be exposed to possible ruin.

Sincerely,

Frank [REDACTED]

It's bad enough that our revenue records were not encrypted. But now we cannot even begin to correct the problem because the web site will not accept the code and the listed phone number cannot take any more calls. More manpower should have been devoted to help correct a problem that should not have happened in the first place. Someone at the Dept of Revenue needs to be fired and replaced with a competent administrator.

Governor Haley,

As a SC resident/taxpayer, I have been affected by the recent cyber attack. Upon reading of the attack, I immediately called the phone number as instructed. After 20-30 attempts I gave up for the day. Two days later I finally got through and followed the instructions. I have now been enrolled in "ProtectMyID". I reviewed my current credit report and noticed a discrepancy. So, I called the appropriate number and was placed on hold for 25 minutes. When I finally spoke to someone, she said they were having "system problems" and to call back in 3 hours? This issue goes unresolved. About three weeks ago I was notified by my credit card company of fraudulent activity, coincidence? My point is that as I can appreciate all the state is doing to try to protect us, is it enough? Experts say the longer the attackers hold onto the info, the more valuable it becomes to them. I do not believe a year of "free" protection is going to be enough. Also, all the services on ProtectMyID is not free. Are you, as the Governor of our great state going to assist South Carolinians after the year is up? If our ID is stolen, will you be there for us?

Thanks for your time,

Dear Governor Haley- this is very alarming to think the dept of revenue would actually maintain our personal information on line on any computer system . My question is, what is going to be done to prevent this from happening again? Please consider over staffing the 866 # in order for all SC to reach this number in a timely manner. What is the plan for those SC's who's information was stolen and being used? Have you considered bringing a task force together to help the people with support or to have a voice? We create so many wasted offices in Government why not one for something as serious?

I would expect the Governors office to make this process easier for SC. SC's trust gov with our private information would be interested to know the plan to protect SC going forward.

It is very difficult and almost impossible to get through on the help line to find out what we need to do to protect ourselves. I think more phone lines should be added or provide information via the web that is an option to calling. I went to www.protectmyid.com/scdor thinking and would find this type of information but I cannot locate it on the web if it is there.

I am concerned and very disappointed that your office waited 16 days to alert us of this cyber-attack. 16 days could really do a lot of damage to my finances. Would you have waited 16 days to alert me if there was a threat on my life? Your statement in the Post & Courier "you don't go slim on this. You go strong on this" is hypocritical. If you were going strong then we would have been alerted immediately. You can make all the political statements you want, like slamming someone against the wall. You have slammed yourself against the wall and have insured that you will only be a one term governor. If you did choose to run again, South Carolina will have a Democrat for Governor. I was a strong supporter of you; however your lack of concern for your constituents has ended it. Oh and by the way, is it really a great day in South Carolina?

this is so upsetting! All responsible individuals at the dor should be held accountable and so should you. you know cyber attacks are a fact of life and proper security measures should be in place. to add insult to injury you provide a phone number that is constantly busy and not accessible.

for most of my life i have lived in the northeast where the government was supposedly dysfunctional . . . you go way beyond that.

i hope to leave this bigoted state soon.

The ability for the citizens to protect them selves after our government has failed to protect our information is grossly inadequate. The information released has stated the hotline will be open 24/7 and then on the Governors site it state there are limited hours. Then when you call you are told to call back at another date and you have until Jan. 2013 to enroll. Really??? This is considered acceptable. If someone is impacted and could not get through are you going to repair their credit rate, replace the funds, and deal with the mounds of paperwork that it will require to straiten this mess out? I think not. It will be left up to the individual to handle everything. Providing protection is only helpful if you can sign up for it. Which as of right now thousands of people are being told to call back. This is unacceptable. If you know who is being impacted why have those individuals not been automatically protected. Also the website requires individuals to pay for the service that has been offer for free from the State.

I certainly hope these options are reevaluated and a better system is set up.

You have an office, OEEP, I received an email from a Katherine Thomas, Email KThomas@oepp.sc.gov. This poorly written email said you, Governor Haley, asked her to send me 3 attachments. I have not opened the attachments, as I hope this a spam email. First if this a spam email then most likely a result of the mismanaged computer system that allowed a Hacker to steal my SS#, DOB and email address. Second if this did come from this government agency, then it is most insensitive and poorly worded communication in the world. I have sent this email, with attachments, to a CH Glover, who is with the OEEP. I sent a follow up email yesterday, as no one has had the decency or courtesy to respond to me. I do not like having to send this note but I will not be treated this way, when my tax dollars help to pay every ones salary. Please respond and let me know why you would have some one send such an email, if you did. Thank you for a PROMPT response.

"The number of records breached requires an unprecedented, large-scale response by the Department of Revenue, the State of South Carolina and all our citizens," Gov. Nikki Haley said. "We are taking immediate steps to protect the taxpayers of South Carolina, including providing one year of credit monitoring and identity protection to those affected." Have you called the number you are touting? A recording tells us that customer care is closed and open Mon-Fri 8-6. I am sure the hackers would not use any info obtained any time except 8-6, Mon-Fri. So Far this has been a farce. Please put someone on this, lest the national media picks it up and discovers that it is not a great day in SC.

Morning Governor Haley

Doesn't in the The SC Code of Laws Section 37-20-110 #16 Security Freeze and Section 37-20-160 section J cover us against ID theft?

I have to call one of the 3 reporting folks to open my information for applying for credit.

Why should the state have to pay for this when it is free, by law?

Dear Governor,

My name is Dixon [REDACTED] and I am South Carolina citizen stationed at [REDACTED], in, you guessed it, [REDACTED]. My wife (who is a resident of South Carolina, THE GREATEST STATE IN THE UNION!!!), alerted me to the recent incident involving the illegal obtaining of sensitive private information by hackers via SC computers. First off, I want to say that I appreciate the State's proactive response to this unfortunate incident. Secondly, I want to, as a private citizen, congratulate Governor Haley's response wanting to slam the perpetrator against the wall. I know that she does not literally want to do this, but it sends a message that she, and the SC government will not tolerate one iota of this grievous breach of security. I do, however, have a question concerning this issue. After the year of credit monitoring is done, what is the next course of action? If I was an enterprising, and patient criminal, I would simply wait a year, and then set about to exploit the information stolen. Also, a growing problem is the fraudulent submission of electronic tax returns to the Feds and State tax agencies. These returns reap lots of refund money for the scammers. As citizens of the greatest state in the Union, what can my wife and I do to guard against fraudulent use of our info for federal and state income tax returns? Thank you for your time, God bless Governor Haley, God bless South Carolina, God bless the United States, AND GO GAMECOCKS!!!!!!

Dear Governor Haley:

I believe I've reviewed substantially all of the publicly available information on the security breach at the Department of Revenue. As a filer of South Carolina individual tax returns for a number of years, I was surprised when I called (866) 578-5422 and the recorded message stated Identity Theft Protection is only available to South Carolina residents. Additionally, the 866 number is supposed to be staffed by live human beings. However, the recorded message stated that no one was available on Saturday (due to high call volume) and to call back during weekday business hours. The message said to keep trying to call through January 31, 2013, in order to find out if your Social Security Number was compromised. This hardly reflects good customer service in light of the severity of the situation.

As the safeguards following a security breach require personal time and inconvenience (and cost if South Carolina is NOT providing Identity Theft Protection to non-residents), I need to know immediately whether my Social Security Number was stolen. Please advise by Monday morning how I can find out if my tax return information was compromised. For example, I need to know whether my dependent Social Security Numbers were stolen. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Michael [REDACTED]

The link to the Experian website requires an activation code that has not been included in any of the information released from your office. Please either release the activation code or work with Experian to remove the requirement.

The phone number is utterly useless, as the number of callers exceeds the capacity of the system. In other words, both suggested methods for determining if your negligence has resulted in the theft of my information are failures.

Please be so kind as to rectify the situation.

I just tried to determine if my SS # has been breached and have spent over an hour with a for-profit site that is not interested in telling me anything about whether or not my SS # has been breached due to lack of competence by the state of SC. They are interested in making money on providing me a credit report I do not need.

Shame on you Governor for all your "media-induced" outrage at this breach and your lack of anything to provide the citizens of your state with the info they need to determine if their credit and/or finances are at risk due to this egregious lack of security! Why hasn't a state run agency been assigned to answer our concerns/questions. I need to know if my SS # has fallen into the hands of a cyber hacker and I need to know it from the agency that allowed it to happen! I deserve but do not expect communication from DOR regarding this!

As usual you do a lot of talking but take no meaningful action! Please plan on a law suit if my credit or finances suffer because of this.

Do the math? Assuming 3.6 million people try to call the DOR and spend only 1 min on the call, that is 3.6 million mins. Do you realize how many man weeks that is? 1500 man weeks. If you have 100 people answering the phone then it will take 15 weeks!

Certainly with all the brain power in the states IT departments, you can find a better solution. I'm retired from 31 years in IT. If you can't find a better solution, I'll drive to Cola and help you.

Gov Haley, my family has been in SC since the Revolutionary War. I have always lived here, and sadly...was educated in SC. I went through our public school system and graduated from USC...barely. While I have never gotten wealthy living here I have stayed because I love this state. I am a Blue Star Mother of an Air Force LT, a full time employee of [REDACTED] an active volunteer in my community, voter, and active Christian in my community. With all of that said I feel that I have more than enough to stand on when I say "What in Heaven's name is going on with our state?" 3.6 million compromised SS#s? My thoughts are that it is much higher than those numbers. The people responsible need to start handing in their resignations now. Thieves steal, that is what they do. But I have a security system to protect my home. If someone were to break into my home, I would feel awful but would ask myself what could I have done to prevent it? That is why I have a security system at my home. What in the world were these people at the head of this dept doing?? Starting at the top, you need to start firing them. They make 4 times my salary and can't keep someone from hacking the system. Fire them, fire them, fire them. They may not be responsible, but they are accountable. If the entire office had been empty the thief could not have done more damage than what he/she did. These people at the Dept of Revenue need to be fired, no questions asked, no excuses accepted. My company would have fired me for a security breach like that. I am sorry to say Gov Haley that I expect they have cost you a re-election. Fire them.

I understand why you may have wanted to get all procedures in order before you announced major security breach to us South Carolinians. However, Governor, did it never occur to you or others working with you since October 10 while you were mulling over your press conference, hackers could have already infiltrated bank accounts, etc? Duh! To me that is a no brainer.

AND while you were mulling over your procedures, did it never occur to anyone that as soon as you held your belated press conference the call line would be inundated with phone calls and that maybe it should've been staffed adequately to begin with???? I've been calling and calling. I'm sure I'll have the same experience beginning Saturday at 11 am. 11 am? Why not 8:30 am? Do you really think that time line will adequately handle the volume of calls that will be placed? I think not!

I AM NOT IMPRESSED.

Please notify those whose ss or credit card numbers were stolen. Asking victims to call ONE, non working number for an activation code, how nice! What about all the older folks or people with no Internet? What should they do?

I am hopeful that an investigation will uncover why on earth the good taxpaying people of our state had their Ss numbers stored in an unencrypted manner. I have worked so hard to protect my ss number and am so careful with my personal informaion and the state has just wiped all of that out with sloppy work and a SLOW response. Sensitive data should be housed OFFLINE, always, and i am aghast to think that those at our state dept do not know this.

the numbers likely will be sold in batches and perhaps held for awhile, meaning that one year of credit monitoring won't be enough.

Thanks alot. Please fix the phone issue, and make an effort to contact people directly.

I am one of the many who had trouble over the weekend with the number listed on the SCDOR website. For one thing, the number worked before 11 AM on Saturday despite that being the time listed as the earliest for that day. I called your office on Saturday AM for help and got the recording that the office was closed till Monday. Surely you can't be serious? The most significant event that has happened in SC during your time as governor and no one appointed to answer the phone over the weekend. VERY VERY bad move on your part. Poor PR. Also, making the announcement on Friday PM so citizens couldn't access the help they needed until Monday? And playing the political game of giving bad news on a Friday PM and ducking and running, hoping for clearer skies on Monday? BAD MOVE.

Dear Governor Haley,

I am disheartened by the some of the advice that you may be receiving from your advisors and that was shared wiith the public in connection with the recent hacking of confidential taxpayer information. People were told not to panic if they cannot access the help line because they have until January to sign up for ProtectMyId through Experian and that the $1M protection will be applied retroactively. Although the intent of this advice is to calm the public, I believe it can make an already bad situation worse for anyone whose identity may have been stolen. Many identity theft victims spend hundreds of dollars and many months to repair damage to their good name and credit record. The sooner you begin monitoring activity and reviewing your credit reports, the sooner you can repair any damage. If people wait until January, they may not find out their identity has been stolen until they are contacted by a debt collector, denied loans for education, housing or cars, or even lose out on a job because of negative information on their credit reports.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter.

Regards,

Martha [REDACTED]

They inform that the charges was a fraud since it was done oversea in the United Kingdom. They have closed that Check Card and reissued me a new one. Please note, I do not write checks, since I know they can be easy get lost or miss placed. I have also contacted ProtectmyID and make a report which they took and gave me a ticket #. I told me numerous times that I was a SC citizen that has his information hacked by. I mention to him that I was inform they obtain numerous of SS # and debit and credit card information. I think they obtain my Visa Check Card information during the hack. I was informed by ProtectmyID that they only monitor SS #, for new accounts, etc. They do not monitor anything else like Bank Cards, since they do not know the person speading happens. I ask him, how about charges that are strange like charges from countries overseas, Especially, when it the country I think you mention hacked into the SCDOR. I would like to know what the government is going to do, if the only thing the ProtectmyID is going to monitor is the SS # and not the Debit/Credit Cards that was part of the information that was obtain by the hackers.

Governor Haley,

I am contacting you due to my concern over how the SCDOR Cyber Attack is being handled. My tax returns contained my children's social security numbers as well as my own. However, the Experian site does not allow you to set up monitoring on people born after 1994. I feel that my children's social security numbers are probably more valuable to an attacker than mine for this very reason. I am concerned and would like to know how I will be able to monitor activity on their numbers at a free cost. I feel that I must also express my amazed concern over how the state of South Carolina was not encrypting their data. This day in age, all precautions must be taken with such valuable data.

Thank you for your time,

As time goes by , I become more distressed about the leak of my personal financial data. I have scrimped and saved my entire life (having worked for the state of SC for over 30 years) in order to be "comfortable" in retirement years. Now I have to worry and be diligent, through no fault of my own, to monitor my family's accounts. My savings and way of life are in jeopardy due to the flagrant error of someone who was supposed to be looking out for me. I have heard only excuses.....no apology.....no remedy of worth. Experian is a joke, having been hacked many times, themselves. And , after one year, I must pay to only be informed of (not protected from) an identity theft. I expect more. Compassion? Help? Will someone resign or be fired?

In your bio. in the column on the left of this page, it says that Haley is "one of the strongest fiscal conservatives in state government, ...marked by conservative leadership and an unwavering commitment to the taxpayers' bottom line." I suggest that this should be re-written.

I have never communicated with a government official before. But then, I have never been put in danger before.

Gov. Haley,

This has to be the lowest point in your career. I saw a report today where you met with lawmakers in the state government to state that NOTHING could be done to stop the hackers but the holes have been plugged so we're safe now. Uhhh... what?!? Political double talk does not mean that we'll drop it.

I have worked in IT for nearly two decades and am disappointed with the what I am hearing from your government. How can any IT person look you in the eye and tell you that there is no problem or the problems have been resolved? What have they been doing for the past few years? How often are penetration tests performed? What organization is performing these tests? When do you file a lawsuit against that organization to recoup the money that is being spent on this fiasco? And it is a fiasco and an attempted spin to lessen the impact.

My next question to you is what happens after your gracious 12 months of protection for the citizens of SC runs out? Nothing will come of this now that they know we are being watched for 12 months! The actual ID theft will take place in 13 months and beyond. This will be around the time that you may begin your bid for re-election... you have to know that this will be brought up during THAT campaign.

Governor, own up to it, get it out in the open and let's get everyone on the same level of knowledge. It is only fair as you and your staff may have ruin people's lives. Yes, I blame you directly as the buck stops with you. Good day!

Greetings to you, We have purposely waited since the announcement of the attack and loss of the personal information to let you know how disappointed and upset we are that your staff was not prepared for this type of situation and with apparently no thought or misgivings to the outcome if this were to happen. We also cannot think that waiting 16 days from the date of the attack, (your timeline) before notifying us of this horrendous breach of trust, was in our best interests. We feel that we now have to play both offense and defense to protect ourselves against those individuals who are determined to wreak havoc with our lives. We were very confused when we read remarks from you about no one being able to prevent this and in the very same remarks you say steps have been taken so this will never happen again. Governor, if in fact the security has been upgraded after the fact, why indeed, was it not in place from day one? If this breach was a matter of funding, we are certain our state has sufficient monies to have paid for any and all needed upgrades and sufficient staff to monitor our systems.

We are supporters and are so proud of your hard work since being elected. Please work very hard to make sure we are safe in all departments of your administration.

Thank you.

Below is a copy of an email I sent to myprotectid.com Even though the Governor made an announcement that protectmyid.com would send an email or letter on how to enroll or cover dependent minor SSN's. the website is not up to date and the folks answering the phones don't have a clue. Especially if they are telling me that minor SSN's were not affected, even though they filed a return during those years.

Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for the reply, however you did not answer the question I asked. I have done everything you said prior to submitting my question by e-mail. I have even called the (866) 578 5422 and I always get the voice instructions, when I choose to wait for a representative, I finally got through this morning and the representative ([REDACTED]) did not know what I was referring to about minor's SSN and put me on hold to ask someone. She came back and told me that she was told children were not affected by this breach??? I have a hard time the hacker selectively picked everyone older than 18 years of age.

My question once again is when we will get information about how to protect SSN's of minor children filed as dependents on their parents return or in some cases the minors have filed their own return but are claimed as dependents on their parents return. I have heard we are supposed to be getting an email with instructions but to date I have not received such e-mail.

I took the liberty of forwarding this email to the SC DOR as they should know we have not received any info about how to sign-up minors after we have already signed for protectmyid.com

Thanks

Kerry
