Description/Significant Features:

This resource is a 250 acres golf course built in 1968. It appears that the greens and the layout of the course are equivalent to what they were when the course was constructed. Inquiries were made with management of the golf course to document the history of the resource but no information was returned.

Alterations (include date(s), if known):

A comparison of the 1971 aerial photograph and a modern aerial photograph show that the clubhouse has been heavily altered with additions. It also shows that the original pool and pool house are no longer present. The old pool is currently filled in and the current pool, pool house, and an unidentified structure to the northeast are more recent additions that, according to Google Earth imagery, post-date 1994.
