Pretty frustrated, that I can't make a single night reservation at a state park campground even though there are a lot of single nights available. I understand there is a two night minimum, but why leave sites that only have single nights go unused? Tried to reserve tomorrow at Dreher island and was told they only allow two night minimum stays.

If you would like to make a single night reservation, you can contact the park you are interested in directly, via phone. They can possibly make that reservation for you through the park.
