The Medical University of South Carolina (MUSC) is using a $46 million bond issued through the South Carolina Jobs-Economic Development Authority (JEDA) to help finance a new pediatric outpatient center in North Charleston.

The MUSC Children's Health Ambulatory Campus is expected to open in 2019 as a 100,000-square-foot facility that provides operating and procedure rooms, MRI and CT labs, pharmacy and clinic space and more.

"JEDA funding has once again helped MUSC expand our operations and ability to serve more people in more areas around the Lowcountry. We appreciate that assistance and the ongoing trust from the investors in these bonds."

— Steve Hargett, Chief Financial Officer at MUSC
