South Carolina State Parks

at 16:05:21 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Lisa Phillips omg

at 16:07:44 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Penny Campbell ICK!

at 16:08:17 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Bonnie Hughes Hamm We watched a water snake eat a catfish at a local county park...he eventually turned it around to swallow the head first...cool pic!

Angela Dawn Wow, what an amazing picture!

Becky Holmes non-venomous. awesome picture. awesome animal.

at 16:10:47 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Dean M Spencer aren't you suppose to post encouraging pics so people will come to the parks? lol jk, cool pic...

at 16:11:00 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Bill Bynum Cool!!!!!!

at 16:12:42 on 5/04/2010 UTC

South Carolina State Parks Take a look at this cool photo captured by one of our rangers at Calhoun Falls State Recreation Area. As you can see a northern watersnake (nonvenomous - but it WILL bite) has caught its dinner and proceeds to eat the fish. How cool is nature? And you can see it at a state park!

at 16:12:48 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Becky Holmes thanks : )

at 16:14:36 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Joseph Warren Blevins That might be the coolest thing I have seen in a long time.

at 16:17:14 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Teresa Renee Coker um this makes me never want to go back there again. It was on of my faves on lake russell

at 16:17:19 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Dennis Crunch Chynoweth This is a "one in a lifetime" photos. Tell him to enter it in ANY show he can! Beautiful coloring, both live and dead.

at 16:19:52 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Mike Carpenter Could easily be mistaken for a copperhead.

at 16:20:55 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Sue Ann Tarkenton Beautiful snake. . . I know seems like an oxymoron but you have to admit it has a lovely pattern and coloring.

at 16:26:05 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Brenda Carder Counts Extremely cool picture...but just a little creepy too!

at 16:28:13 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Susan Haney OH HECK NO!!!!!!!!!!!!

at 16:29:03 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Joe Findley Looks like a copperhead, because of the diamond shaped head.

at 16:33:57 on 5/04/2010 UTC

David R Walker Nerodia sipedon, looks and acts like a copper head, that's its defense

at 16:36:12 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Norma Cooler Oh, my gosh.....thanks for sharing such a great photo!

at 17:06:28 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Cindy Medlin While camping I enjoy the birds and nature but I try not to think about the snakes and spiders. LOL

at 17:35:04 on 5/04/2010 UTC

David Adamson That is why shape of head, and or pattern should not be used to identify venomous/nonvenomous snakes. Only the eyes, and the pits tell the truth, with the exception of the Corral Snake.

at 17:55:19 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Louise De Jonge ..fish 6 chips...:-)

at 17:59:10 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Ann Birdie Hammond Wow, and we'll be up there next week! We'll def watch our step.

at 18:09:02 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Ben Stegenga Actually, northern water snakes ( Nerodia sipedon) and copperheads (Agkistrodon contortrix) have very different patterns and aren't very hard to tell apart at all. Here's a link to a site that has pictures comparing the two.

Sharon Dandridge Steele Ben - thanks for that link.

at 19:41:10 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Gene-Ann Stromberg good picture but thats a water snake

at 20:14:12 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Pamela Thomasson-Vanderford Oh lordy they are AMAZING but creepier~~~

at 23:21:25 on 5/04/2010 UTC

Charles Boyer Nice catch

at 1:10:19 on 5/05/2010 UTC

Mike Carpenter We all know its a watersnake but the pattern at a glance gets cluttered while your running.

at 1:18:47 on 5/05/2010 UTC

Tamara Case Barkley And I am going paddling Saturday.....Not cool!
at 1:40:04 on 5/05/2010 UTC

Jeri Fawcett Oh! I had no idea they caught fish. But it makes perfect sense.
