Description/Significant Features:

Northeast of the main house is the remnants of a single story, frame tenant house. It is a front-gabled structure with a central front door and single six-over-six, double-hung, wooden sash windows, which are located beneath a hipped roof porch that is supported by tapered square posts that rest on brick piers. A shed-roofed addition has been appended to the rear of the structure. Although the front elevation is recognizable as a residence, the majority of the home's roof has fallen in and much of the rear of the structure is in a state of collapse.

Alterations (include date(s), if known):

The original wooden weatherboard is covered with vinyl siding - mid to late 20th century
